Help shape your Town!

Streets for People is an opportunity to participate and help shape the future of Waipawa's main street. As a key voice for the community, a group will dive into three codesign workshops and provide advice and recommendations to Council. This input will inform design and opportunities for Waipawa.

Codesign means working collaboratively to refine ideas — ideas that will improve the look, function, and feel of Waipawa. The group will be exploring five key areas on the main street that can be improved.

The group will be made up of representatives from the wider community. We will have facilitators to support members through the design process.

Group members will need to be open to discussion, understand the broader perspectives, and consider Waipawa's future. The wider community will still have a chance to contribute to the process and have their say on recommendations.

All information from this process will be given to Central Hawke's Bay District Council to put into action.

It's an exciting opportunity—to be part of the Codesign group—and to shape direct outcomes for Waipawa!

Personal qualities of group members

Community oriented

- 'Big picture', community-minded individuals who have a strong connection to the Waipawa area and the local community.
- Work to promote issues or actions that are in the public good.

Committed, open-minded and proactive

- Willing to commit to the codesign process and time allocated.
- Willing to learn and take a diverse set of views into account.
- Actively listen to and engage with others and will seek and share feedback from the community.

Positive and respectful

- Have a positive mindset and be solutions oriented.
- Able to interact, debate and discuss in a respectful way

Culturally aware

- Familiar with tikanga Māori and collaborating with Mana Whenua or have a willingness to learn.
- Bring an awareness to preserving and promoting Waipawa's cultural heritage in design.

Codesign Group Make-up and Expectations.

The Codesign group will represent a cross section of the Waipawa community and provide valuable local knowledge. Numbers are limited to 12, and members will be selected by the project team to balance representation across the community.

Members will attend a series of three Codesign sessions to be held in Waipawa, with potential for a further role to support at council and community events to present design outcomes. There is a commitment made by signing up to this process to attend meetings, and be a supportive and active member of the panel.

We value peoples time, energy and input. We intend that these sessions are fun, interactive, and are part of the design process for positive outcomes in Waipawa. However, we also expect rigorous discussion and debate—the group may not agree on all outcomes—but we will in the process understand the backgrounds, perspectives and decisions of each other.

Sessions will be held after work, and members will be acknowledged for their time and input into the process.

All background material and information will be provided to confirmed Codesign group members.
